Asahi Kasei Europe to present alkaline-water electrolysis system at Hannover Messe 2018

Düsseldorf, 9 April 2018 – From April 23 - 27, 2018, Asahi Kasei Europe will present its alkaline-water electrolysis system for the production of hydrogen at “Hydrogen + Fuel Cells + Batteries” at Hannover Messe (Hall 27, Booth C69).

The Japanese technology company is a leading supplier of chlor-alkali electrolysis systems, which are used in 126 production sites in 26 countries worldwide. Based on this technology, the company developed an alkaline-water electrolysis system, which features and enables:

- High electricity-to-hydrogen conversion efficiency
- High adaptability to fluctuating power input from renewable energy sources
- Size-adaptability for large scale operations
